

MOBILE COMMAND CENTER

Summit Worx recently completed a new Mobile Command and Communications Center for the Mount Pleasant Police Department. Summit Worx was chosen for this critical project through an extensive vetting process due to its attention to detail, reputation for being on-time/ under-budget with a wide range of capabilities, its strategic location, and proven expertise.

The new MCCC is ready for action with state-of-the-art, mission critical components including 8 surveillance cameras with a network video recorder, voice-over-IP support, on the move DirecTV, and internet access. The MCCC has its own secure satellite feed, cellular antenna, and access to P25 800MHz network and VHF marine bands. The MCCC is also equipped with multiple linked work stations as well as a situation room.

Summit Worx worked closely with the police department to achieve the most effective design for the MCCC, and then carried out the entire interior rebuild and integration of command and control systems. The work included development of users manuals and then training for the officers in the use of the onboard systems. This has resulted in an exponential improvement in the ability of the Town of Mount Pleasant to respond to emergencies, and Summit Worx looks forward to doing the same work for other communities!
